

Love

Love for me is the inner connection between two people's. The deep feeling of affection that attracts,attach with full heart.My love for you in unexplainable and more than infinite. Love is the spark that both can feel. Love is the language itself which need not to be described. The understanding without telling a word is the love for me. Sharing each and everything without a lie and fear is love. These words are not enough to explain love for you. This attachment of soul which is immense.The power of love can create miracles. Love is unconditional and selfless. Love knows no boundaries.Love makes you to do the best things for your loved ones to make them feel happy & proud about themselves. When you love someone you accept their weakness too and love them for whatever they are. Love has no specific meaning. Love is the most important aspect of an individual's life. Love also carries harsh feelings sometimes but still it is considered as one of the best feeling in the world.