

In this modern world, for me love is very precious and most valuable feeling. Love is freedom, Love is sacrifice. Love has another meaning for me i.e. to give but not to expect anything in return. When you know how to give, you know how to love. Mother is best example for this, she wants nothing but only know how to love and sacrifice for her children. Pure love gives strength, amazing feeling and gives different eye to see the world. Pure love always guides to correct direction. Love is very deep and cannot be explained in some sentences. Love is amazing feeling which can be felt and can change any person. Pure love never has jealousy cause, one is happy in loved one's happiness and respects their feelings. Pure love should be preserved, always respected, uplifted and shared. Sharing and spreading love increases love. Love is expressed through action and is not limited only in words. With correct intension, selfless love is best feeling to explore and experience. Love is the only feeling which is holding each and every relation existing. Love is positivity which can fill heart with joy and make burden heart light. Sleeping in mother's lap removes all the burden in the heart like a magic. Love is wonderful magic and reason behind the happiness.
