

About Love

Love is the key to happiness. We all want to lead a happy life. People look around for happiness in power, fashion, wealth, drugs, etc. But these things can only give temporary pleasures. Love makes us happy forever, provided we should not practice it with selfish motive. Love is a noble feeling which cannot be expressed in simple words such as- parent's divine love towards their children, teacher's love for their students, and Saint's love towards the entire universe. The power of love can create miracles. Love can create unity among nations and its citizens. Love is the most beautiful feeling in the world. Love has given different meaning by different people, depending on how they have experienced this wonderful feeling. It isn't easy to express the significance of love in our life. God has made each living being with no discrimination. Even though we as a whole have various behaviors, just the intensity of love can hold us together. Love can change over a dangerous personality into a valuable one adequately.

The man leads towards cruelty without the presence of Love. The society treats him with inferiority and disrespect. Individuals don't like to talk with him and get in touch with him when they have some urgent work. Everything is possible with the assistance of love; that is why the creatures understand the unique language of affection.
