

About Love

'Love is not jealousy, ambition, fulfilment or becoming; love is not desire or pleasure' 'When you love, everything will come right. If you want to find out who is always looking out for you, take some time to find out. You are challenged to think one week about your life and future. Start today! Think. Life.

Meaning. Highlights: Donation Option Available, Multiple Payment Options Available. Love is an emotion that keeps people bonded and committed to one another. Love is considered to be both positive and negative, with its virtue representing human kindness, compassion, and affection, as "the unselfish loyal and benevolent concern for the good of another" and its vice representing human moral flaw, akin to vanity, selfishness, amour-propre, and egotism, as potentially leading people into a type of mania, obsessiveness or codependency. It may also describe compassionate and affectionate actions towards other humans, one's self, or animals. In its various forms, love acts as a major facilitator of interpersonal relationships and, owing to its central psychological importance, is one of the most common themes in the creative arts. Love has been postulated to be a function that keeps human beings together against menaces and to facilitate the continuation of the species. Being in love makes you feel inspired. It gives you a can-do attitude that you can approach anything, anywhere, anytime. Being in love gives you motivation. Your attitude is optimistic and always positive.