

About Hate

All the stinking buses should be band for eternity. Lion is not the king of the jungle. Smoking in public. Fixing a tech problem for the boomers and again forgetting the solution that you have taught. Playing instrument out of beat. Remixing the original song with an annoying touch of the DJ. Playing repeatedly the same short 30 second song or video in TikTok. And again TikTok what the shit. The one who hangs up the phone while the conversation is not yet over. The one who does not give shit about friends are very much dead. When people switch the song with out notifying that they are going to play a different song even though the next was my favorite song. People not trying to learn. Raising same annoying questions even though they know the answers. People claiming stupid demands and people agreeing with the demands.
